Whole/half/quarter beef?

The price depends on the animal's size and hang weight. The hang weight is what remains after the skin and organs are removed. The average hang weight of our animals is around 600lbs for a whole, 300 for half, 150 for quarter.

- Whole: $4.50/lb ($100 deposit), Half: $4.50/lb ($50 deposit), Quarter: $4.60/lb ($50 deposit)

You will also pay the processor for cutting the meat. Price varies depending upon what type of cuts you choose, averaging $500 for a whole, $250 for half, and $125 for quarter.

Choosing cuts?

When you send us your deposit you will also send us your cutting form (next page), which we will pass along to the processor. We work with Johnson Sausage in Rio, Wi. For any processing questions call Johnson sausage 920-992-MEAT (6328) and Ask for Carol, who will walk you through the cutting order process.

How much meat will I receive?

The processor removes excess fat and bone, leaving the amount of meat you receive less than the hang weight of the animal. The final take home weight will be around 60-70% of the hang weight.

When will my beef be ready?

Our processing appointment is Dec. 15. It usually takes the processor a couple of weeks to cure, and cut your meat. Your beef will be ready for pickup at Parisi family farm or Johnson Sausage in Rio at the end of December or early January.

When do I pay the remaining balance?

Once the animals are delivered to the processor we will send out an invoice, in which you can pay with cash or a check. Johnson Sausage's processing fees are separate, they will let you know how much and when to pay.
